Jock McIntyre, Editor

The two bushel quota just announced relieves the situation considerably and coming just after a cold snap makes every one smile. That makes Champion quotas 600 thousand bushels to date. Champion has produced a lot of crops that didn't yield that many bushels.

There are still some of our current accounts outstanding so why not remember us out of the present quota? Be a good duck and look after your bill.

We have some ears to trade for wheat why not have a look?

The local militia boys seemed to have had themselves a time at time at the Armistice dance at Vulcan judging by their looks on the 12th.

It is not that we need the money for your account but it would surprise you to know the large firms that we owe that seem to be broke completely.

Don't forget the girls' Basket Ball dance on Nov 15 its going to be a wow.

Send Overseas Parcels Early

Even now the postal authorities are advising that mail containing gifts for soldiers should be mailed as early as possible. Though the Yuletide seasons seems far away and there is the impression that there is plenty of time, it should be remembered that there may be delays in transportation, and that the locating of men in the army requires considerable time.

It will be a splendid thing if this Christmas no man in the service be overlooked—particularly the thoughts of those far away, turn toward home as Christmas approaches. If possible they will return in time for the festival; if not, their hope will be that some message arrives from family or friends.

Men on active service are particularly conscious at Christmas time of the value of home and friends. Most of these young Canadians are in strange surroundings and engaged in work strikingly different from their normal occupations. They hope that "back home" life is proceeding about as usual, but they want assurance this will be brought by the gift or letter arriving in time for Christmas. Every Canadian in the army has relatives or friends somewhere. These should make certain that he is not overlooked -- and the time to ensure this is now. Organizations are preparing to send Christmas parcels, but this will not take the place of parcels from home or friends.

The discoloration on the germ end of wheat grains, commonly called "black point" or "black tip," is unusually common in this year's crop. The term "kernel smudge" has been adopted by plant pathologists for this disease to avoid confusion with a less conspicuous and less common disease which they call black point. Kernel smudge is a fungous disease, and may be caused by at least two different fungi. One of them (Helminthosporium sativum) is a dangerous parasite, being a very common cause of seedling blight and root-rot of wheat. Incidentally, it is capable of attacking roots, leaves and grains of barley.

The fungi which cause kernel smudge are probably present in all wheat fields in western Canada, and the air contains an abundance of spores, especially in late summer and in the fall. Outbreaks of the disease such as that which occurred this year must, therefore, be due largely to favourable weather conditions. It appears that the new rust resistant varieties are more susceptible than were the old standard varieties such as Marquis.

There is, at present, no way of controlling or preventing kernel smudge. Diseased seed may produce a crop free from kernel smudge, and the crop produced from disease-free seed may contain many discoloured kernels. Since, however, one of the fungi involved may cause seedling blight, if "smudged" grain is used for seed it should be treated with an organic mercury dust.

Dr. F. J. Greaney, Associate Plant Pathologist at the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory, has consented to prepare a more complete discussion of this problem for publication in the next issue of the now well known, semi-annual "Seedtime and Harvest."

Dr. Cassady who has been practicing Chiropractic work in Vulcan has returned to Calgary where he will take over his father's business.
